ABOUT ME

Graphic Design/Website Design

Hi, I'm Amira – a graphic and UX/UI designer who brings ideas to life through bold visuals and thoughtful design. My work spans branding, websites, and illustration, with a focus on creating designs that are both striking and functional. With experience in web development, I'm able to bridge design and technology, ensuring every project looks great and works seamlessly online. I love experimenting with styles, especially when I can blend clean, modern design with artistic detail.

BRANDING

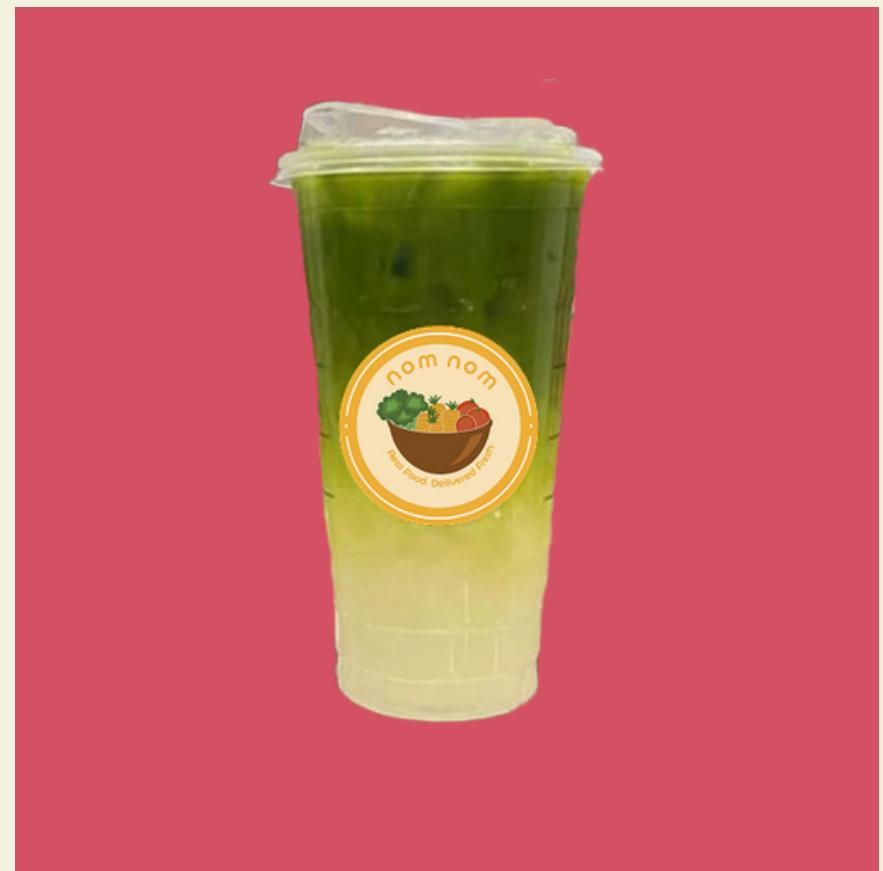

The Nom Nom branding was created for a wholefoods delivery shop, using a fresh, organic colour palette of greens, browns, and warm tones. The logo's produce-filled bowl reflects the brand's focus on natural, wholesome food, while the bold yet friendly style makes it approachable and memorable.

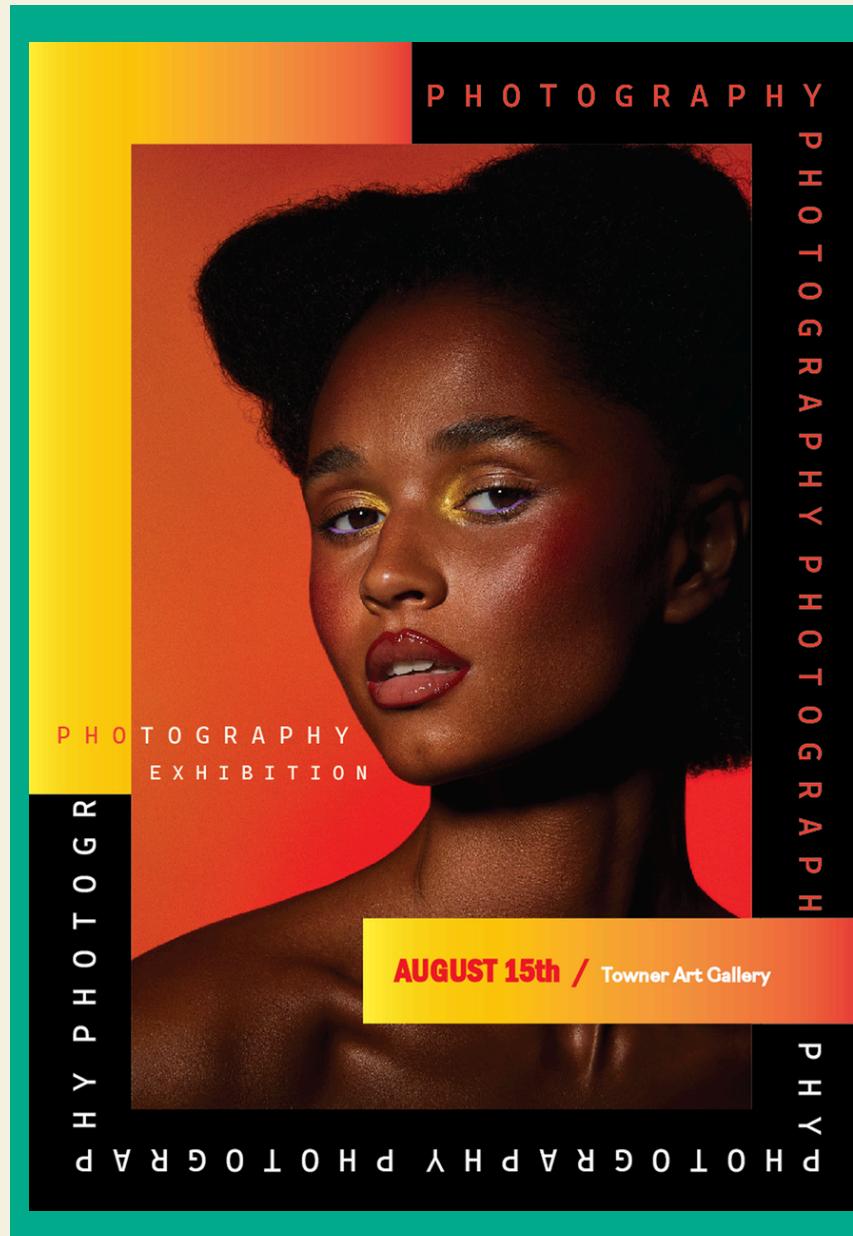

COLOUR PALLET

About:

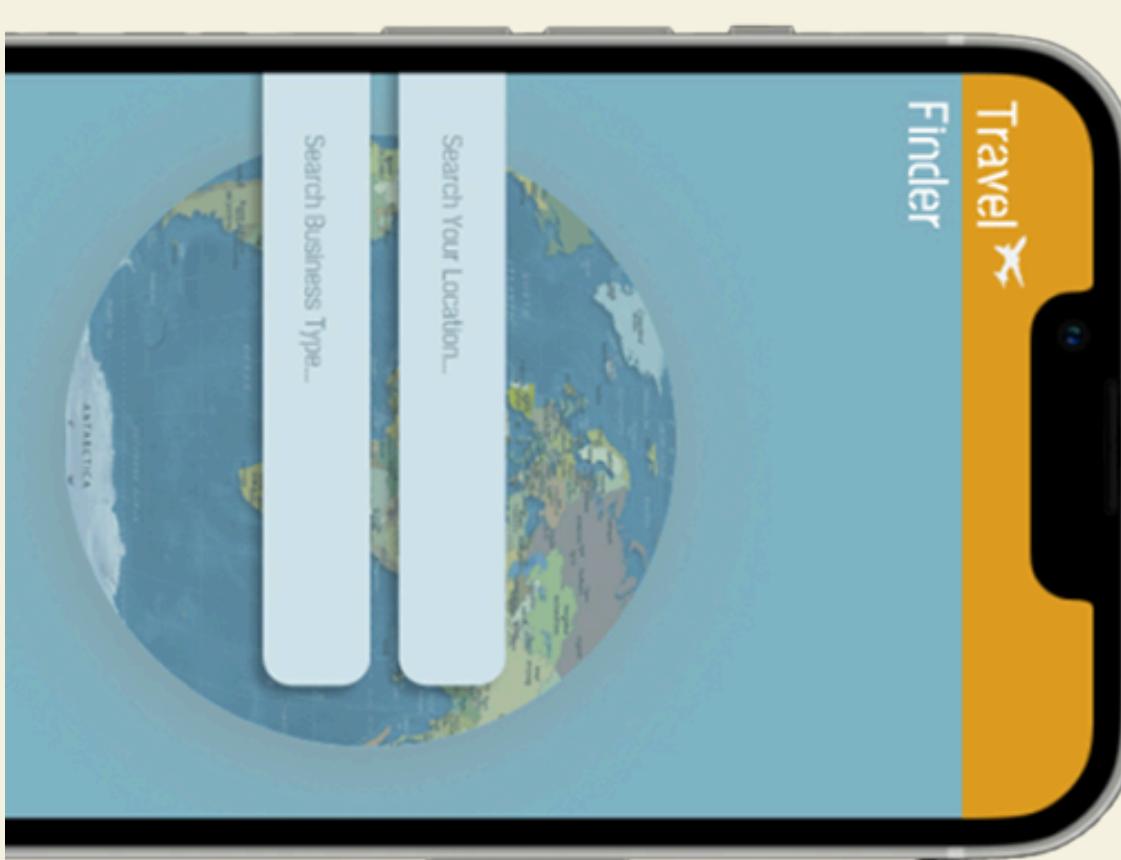

Travel Finder is a travel service dedicated to connecting travellers with local businesses worldwide. The website features a bold mix of blue, yellow, and orange that captures the energy of travel and exploration. Blue conveys trust and global connectivity, while yellow and orange add warmth, excitement, and a sense of adventure.

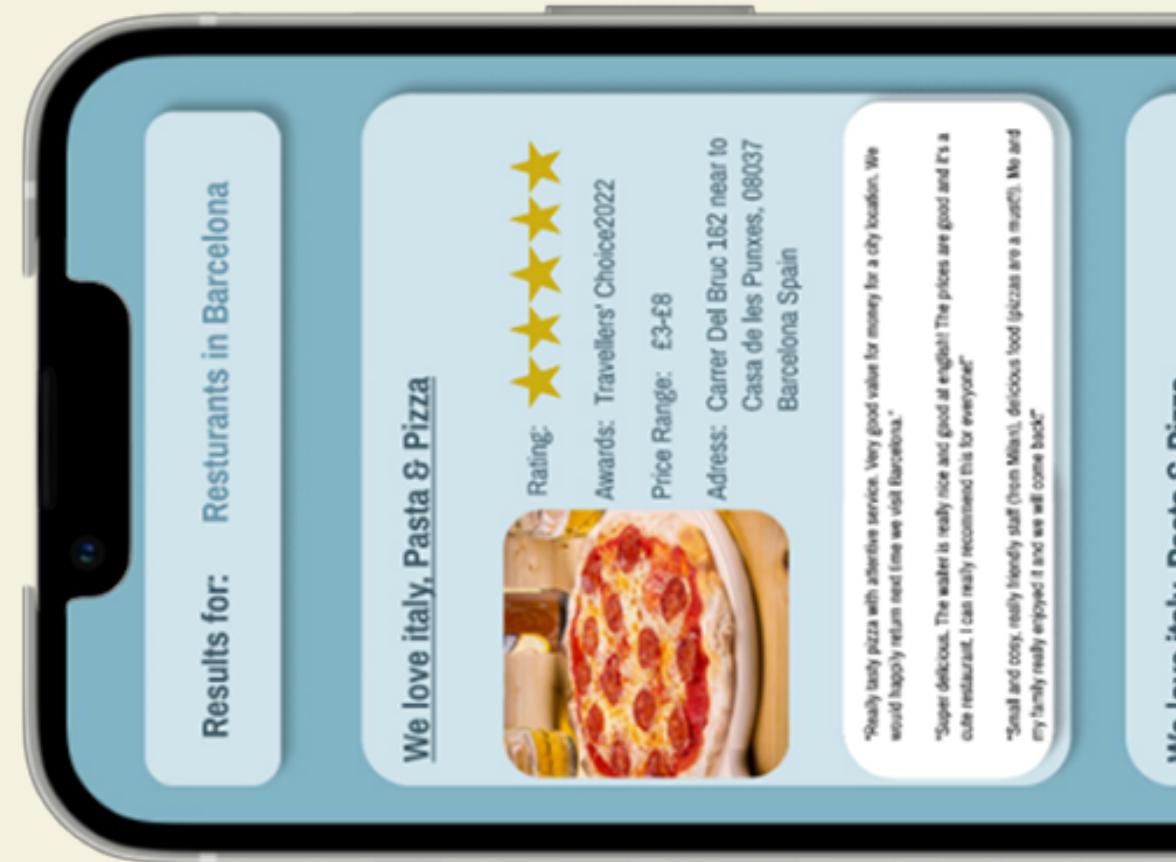

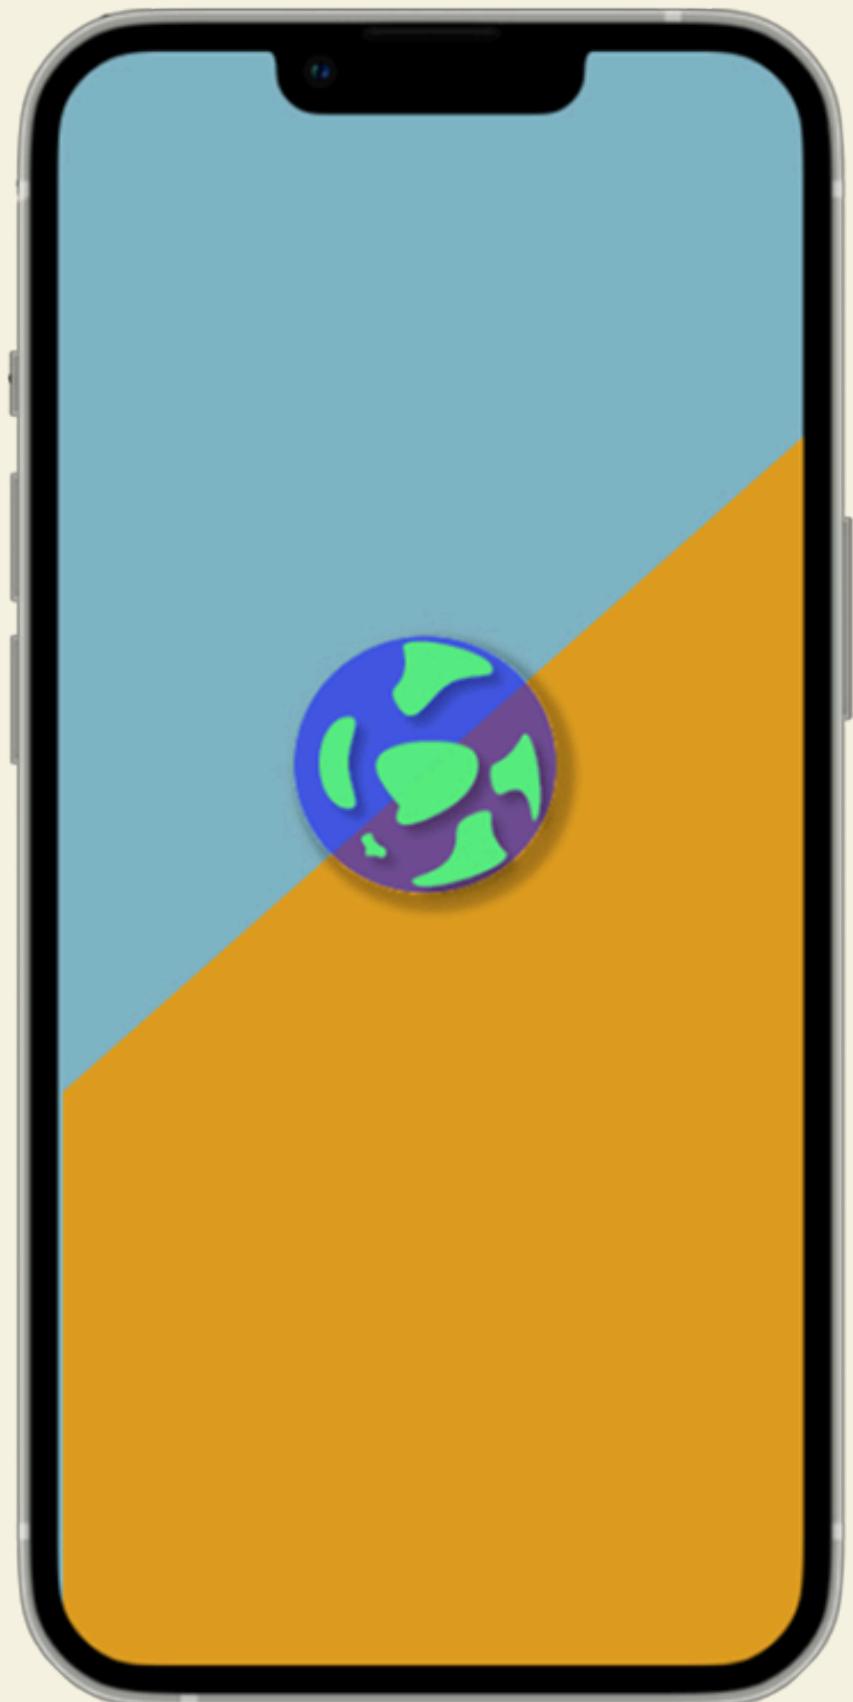

Design Style:

- Clean and modern interface with global travel visuals
- Bold, clear typography for easy navigation
- Friendly and approachable tone that inspires discovery

MOBILE

"Really tasty pizza with attentive service. Very good value for money for a city location. We would happily return next time we visit Barcelona."

"Super delicious. The waiter is really nice and good at english! The prices are good and it's a cute restaurant. I can really recommend this for everyone!"

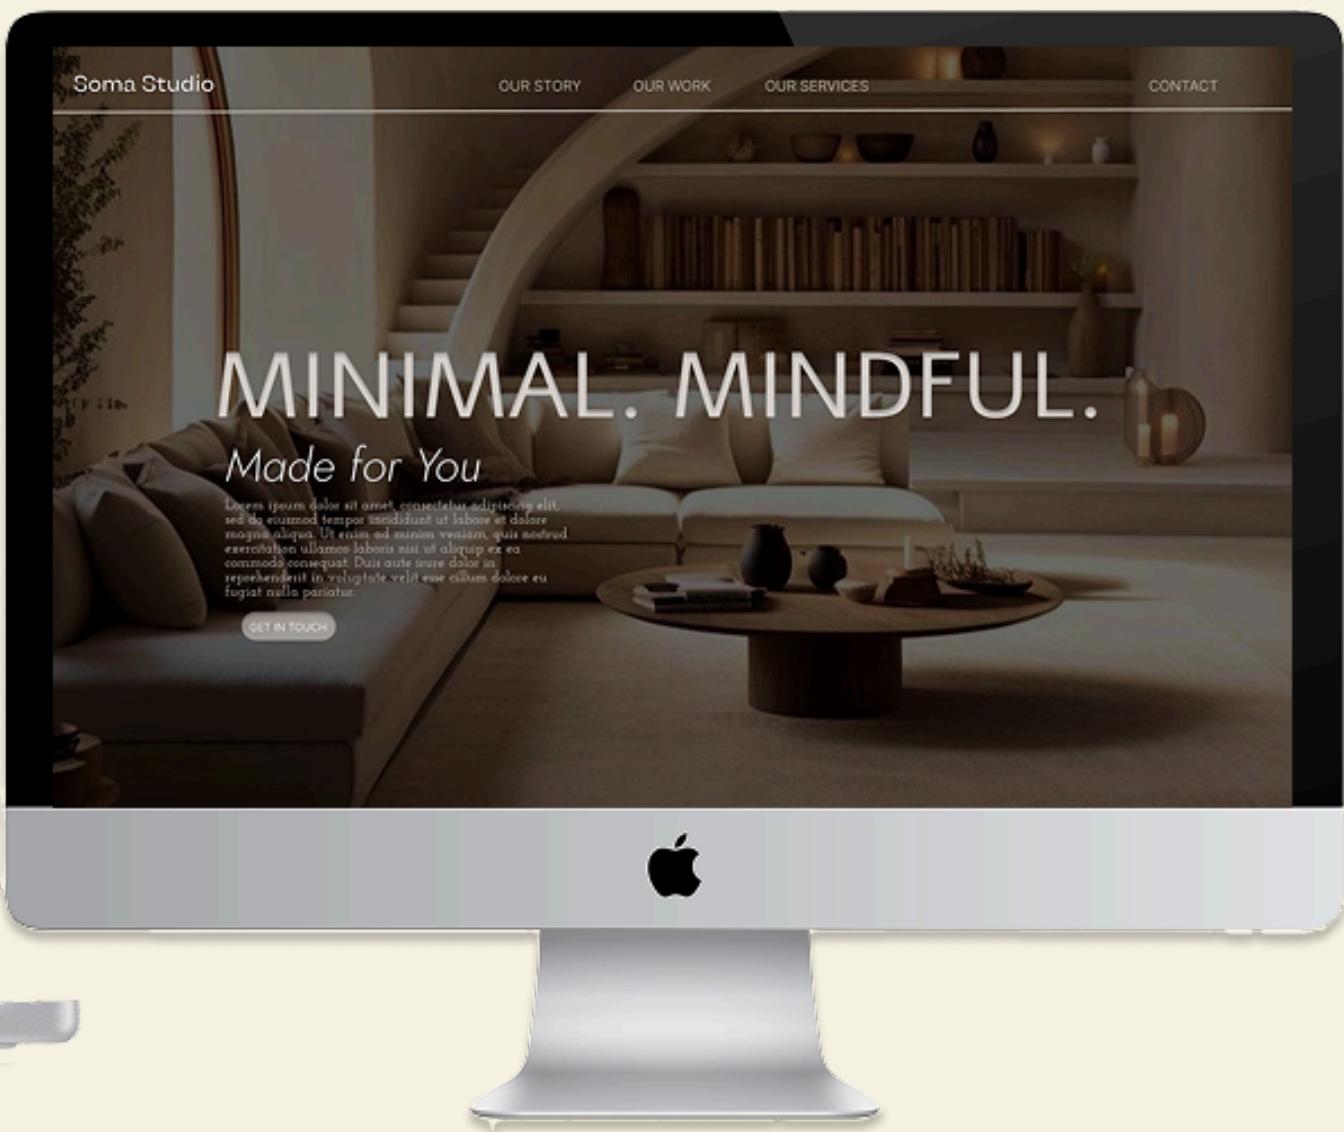

"Small and cozy, really friendly staff (from Milan), delicious food (pizzas are a must!). We had my family really enjoyed it and we will come back!"

WEBSITE DESIGNS

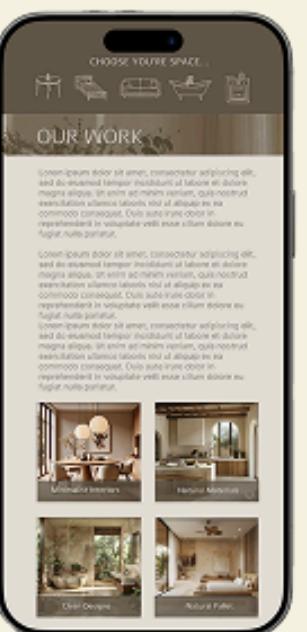

About:

This website is for an interior design company. The website uses a neutral, clean colour palette that reflects the brand's focus on minimalism and mindfulness. Soft tones and natural shades create a calming aesthetic.

Design Style:

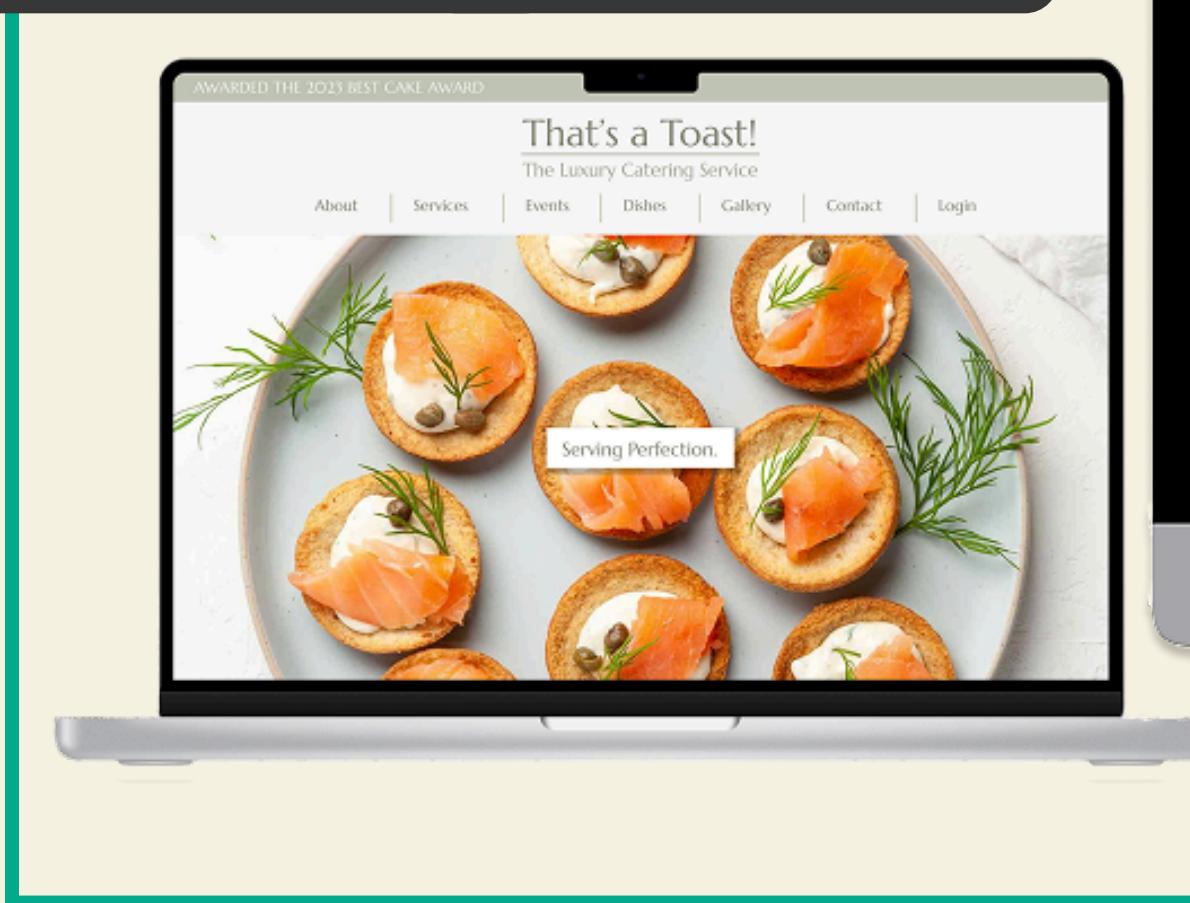

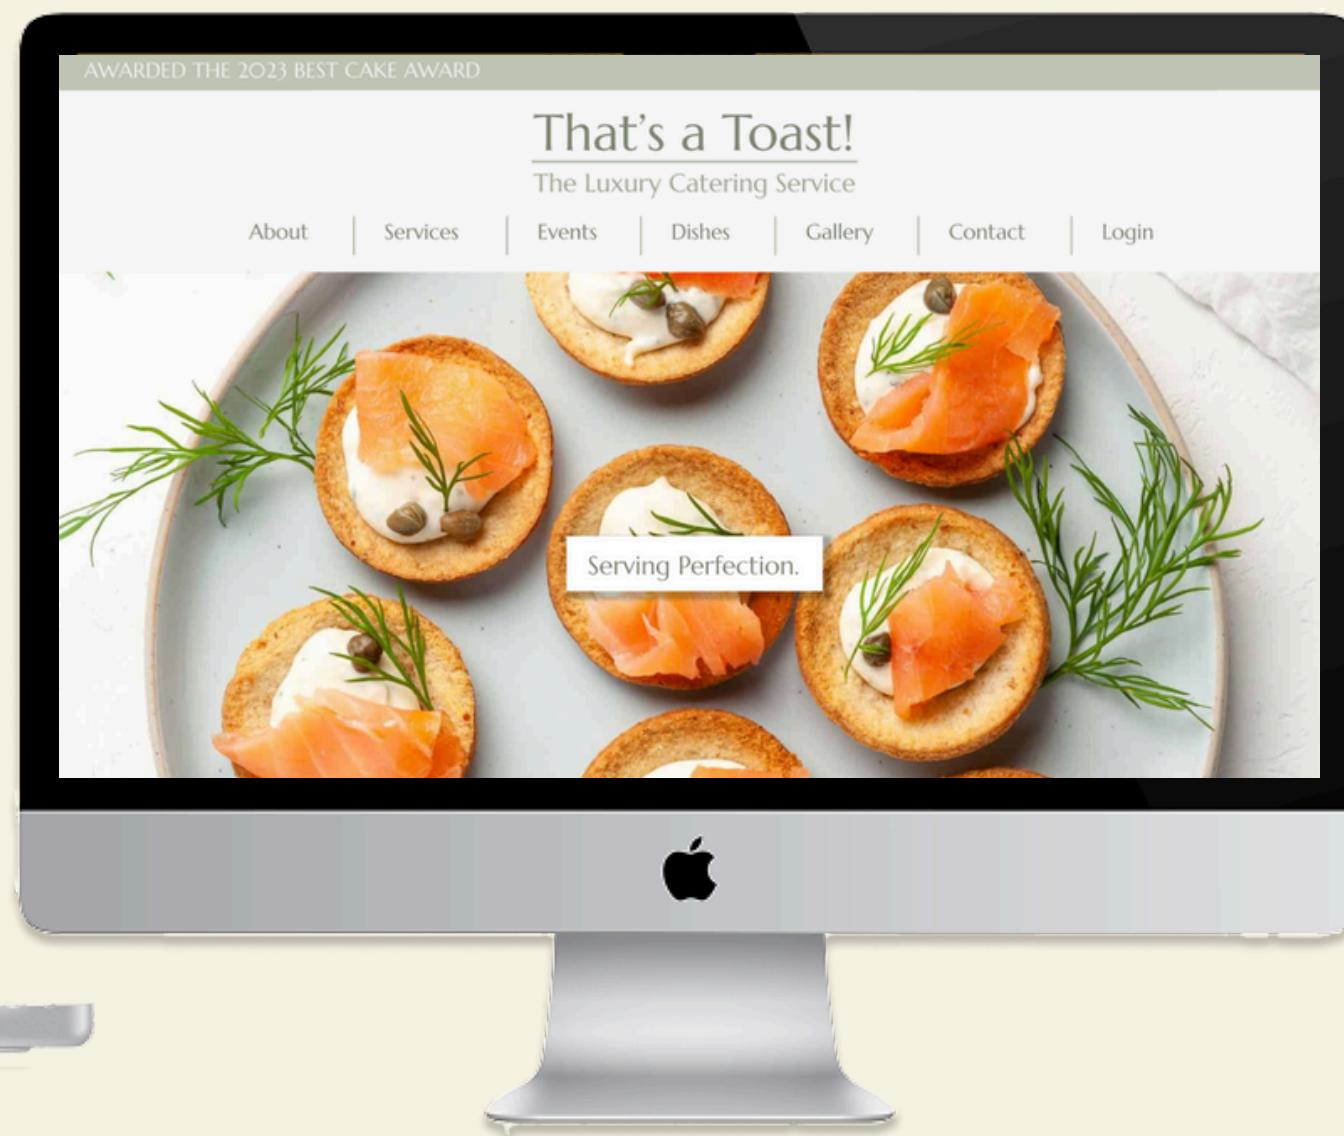

- Neutral colour palette with warm undertones
- Minimalist layouts with spacious typography
- Elegant use of lifestyle imagery showcasing interiors

ILLUSTRATION

All of my illustrations are created in Procreate, a tool that allows me to blend traditional drawing techniques with digital flexibility. I enjoy the freedom it gives me to experiment with textures, brushes, and layering, resulting in bold, detailed artwork with a hand-crafted feel. Using Procreate also means I can refine my designs efficiently, from initial sketches to polished pieces, while maintaining a strong artistic style throughout.
